During the course of this week I have had reason to reflect on the fact that life often fails to follow the script that we expect.

Sometimes this happens on a relatively small scale. Our Year 9 camp at the Field Studies Centre, which started on Monday, has had to be shut down until late next week because of an outbreak of gastroenteritis. This event, which is unprecedented in the operation of the Field Studies Centre, was the consequence of a virus and was not food-related. However, the consequence of the outbreak is that the camp, which had been much anticipated by the boys as one of the great experiences of life at Trinity, has not unfolded as anyone expected. The camp will resume, but it will be truncated. Consequently, I have no doubt that there is disappointment amongst the boys who are affected and their families.

Sometimes the deviation from our expectations is much more significant. During the course of this week I had cause to visit a member of our extended school community in an oncology ward. The story that is unfolding for that family is not one that they had hoped for, expected or welcomed, yet it is, nonetheless, their reality.

Other examples abound. A student receives results are not as strong as he had hoped. A staff member experiences illness that frustrates his desire to be up and about. A parent has to make space in a busy week to get panel-beating done because the L-plate driver had an ‘incident’. The time set aside for one task that gets eaten up by another, the season of anticipated sporting triumph that is cut short by injury, and the list could go on and on.

All these examples sit at different points along the continuum of significance, but they all present challenges to those of us who are affected. What do we do when life disappoints us?

Of course, it depends. It depends on the event, it depends on our personal resources and circumstances, it depends on our habits of mind and patterns of behaviour. Sometimes we complain. Sometimes we rage. Sometimes we despair. Some of us are volatile and some of us are even-keeled. Some of us move on quickly, and others find themselves unable to do so. Some of us are disposed to forensic dissection of events to apportion responsibility or blame, while others shrug. Sitting where I do in this community, I see examples of every kind of response to disappointment.

I would like to make three observations, arising from my reflections this week. The first one is to note that young people learn their responses from older people, particularly their parents. Your response to disappointment is a powerful example and formative influence for your son. You are his most powerful teachers; your influence in these years will be carried forward into the years of his adulthood, and passed on to his children in time.

The second observation is that our experience of disappointment is closely tied to the strength of our expectations. The more we hold onto our expectations, the greater our disappointment when events unfold differently. It is wise to maintain a sense of proportion, so that we can weigh the real significance of any one circumstance. Not every disappointment is a catastrophe.

The third observation is that we do well to maintain a sense of humility about the future. The reality is that we do not know what tomorrow will bring. Whether or not you have Christian faith, it makes good sense to think about the future as conditional; this helps us to cope with the reality of the unpredictable script of life. However, an additional blessing that accompanies Christian faith is the conviction that, even in life’s vagaries and disappointments, God’s fatherly face is turned towards us in love.

We will all experience disappointment in the weeks and months ahead. This will be true both for boys and for their parents. Things will not happen as we might have hoped or expected. We will face circumstances that we did not expect. That is the reality of life. How will we respond?

Uniform Shop Changes

Elsewhere in this Bulletin you will read of changes in the School’s uniform shop. From the start of next term, the Uniform Shop will be outsourced and relocated to newly fitted out premises on the ground floor of the Centenary Centre. I would like to take this opportunity, on behalf of the School, to thank our long-serving staff in the Uniform Shop. Michele De Silva and Jennifer Francis have been with us since 2008, and Judy Martin has been at Trinity in this role since 2010. We thank them for their service to our community over the years and we wish them God’s blessings in the next chapter.

Head Master
“But as for you, continue in what you have learned and have become convinced of, because you know those from whom you learned it, and how from infancy you have known the Holy Scriptures, which are able to make you wise for salvation through faith in Christ Jesus.” 2 Timothy 3:14-15

Student-Led Conferences

Last night was the absolute highlight of this week, as more than 400 boys and a similar number of parents attended this year’s Student-Led Conferences. It was such a pleasure to witness the enthusiasm and joy on the boys’ faces as they took pride in sharing their learning with their parents in their day-to-day learning environment. I also had the additional privilege of experiencing this from a parent’s perspective as my son led me through his learning conference. Experiences like this are a strong affirmation of the School’s focus on developing our young men as well-rounded learners who are reflective and aware of their strengths, achievements, weaknesses and next steps in learning. The ability of our boys to speak so confidently and openly about themselves as learners is a very sophisticated skill and mindset, and will hold them in great stead for their future learning journey. A brief video of the evening can be found at this link.
Open Morning - The Value Of A Trinity Education

Last Saturday morning we held our Term 3 Open Day for prospective families. I find these occasions to be a valuable time to reflect on the value of a Trinity education. It is easy as a member of the community to become caught up in the hustle and bustle of school life without stepping back and appreciating the amazing educational opportunities our boys experience on a day to day basis. In the space of the last few weeks the boys have explored their current unit of inquiry, participated in a wide range of specialist subjects that have stretched them and enabled them to try new things, and continued to develop the basic skills and approaches to learning that form a solid foundation for all future learning. The boys have showcased their artworks, participated in the musical concert that launched the Arts Festival, they have transitioned from the Winter Sport season to training for the upcoming Summer season, and they have returned from, or are preparing to embark on camp. Throughout this journey the boys have been challenged to continue growing in their knowledge of God, personal character, manners, social skills, respect for others and an appreciation of high standards across all areas of school life.

Open Days present an opportunity to share this typical experience of a Trinity boy with prospective families and to reflect on the value of these wide-ranging experiences and the way they support our boys in growing in mind, body and spirit. It is also worth noting that this experience only exists through the committed support network of parents, teachers and support staff.

OSHClub

This week I had the opportunity to meet with OSHClub, our before and after school providers. Over the last few years we have established a very good relationship with OSHClub as they have developed the service to provide support for parents.

Last term I communicated a change in legislation affecting OSHClub. The change means they will no longer able to accept boys into the service who have not previously been registered. There have been a number of recent incidents when this has occurred. We cannot guarantee teaching staff will be available to supervise students after hours and so I urge parents to register your son for OSHClub in case you unexpectedly need to use the service. Please be assured that it is free to register, quick and easy to do and can be completed online at https://www.oshclub.com.au/

Years 3, 4 And 5 Camps

We are fast approaching Week 9 when all of the boys in Years 3 to 5 will be participating in School Camps.
focusing on outdoor education and providing our boys with valuable opportunities to develop their independence, resilience, risk-taking and to support the ongoing development of positive relationships with their peers and teachers. These camps form an integral part of the Trinity learning programme as we seek to provide opportunities for our boys to develop in Mind, Body and Spirit. Year 3 will be heading to Galston Gorge, Year 4 to Rathane and Year 5 to Waterslea.

Changes To Enrolment

From time to time the family circumstances change resulting in boys needing to relocate and change schools.
Parents are reminded that the School requires a term’s notice when boys’ enrolment is to be discontinued. This allows us to offer places for new students in a timely manner.

Father’s Day

Happy Father’s Day again to our wonderful PK Dads. I hope you all had a superb weekend full of family celebrations. Our Father’s Day breakfast on Friday morning proved to be a huge success. Thank you to our wider school community for their efforts in organising, preparing, and serving the delicious breakfast fare. I hope our Dads found the time spent with their boys in PK to be valuable. It was wonderful to observe the boys’ confidence in guiding their Dads through the indoor and outdoor PK learning environment.

In Steve Biddulph’s book, Raising Boys, he dedicates a whole chapter to sharing ideas for Dads in relation to actions and behaviours at home to support your son in his life journey. He titles one section, ‘Reviving a lost art’ and he identifies the following suggestions:

- Allow your son to accompany you on adventures
- Tell him stories about your life - your childhood, your friends, your work
- Teach him things - use your hands to make things
- Model a positive life attitude
- Be physically active with him - play rough and tumble games, kick a ball together
- Be confident in expressing your feelings and discuss your emotions openly
- Model respect for others - particularly the women in your life
- Balance family and professional life where you can
To support the current PK inquiry into the central idea of ‘Growth is dependent on the interaction between living things’, the boys in 5G created a Living Things Treasure Hunt for their PK buddies. Hand in hand the boys searched the outdoor learning spaces in search of the living and non-living things that were identified on the treasure map. At the end of the learning experience, the boys reflected on the hunt and identified which attributes of the learner profile they had demonstrated during the time with their buddies.
Why Is Reading To Your Son So Important?

- It helps your son to build his vocabulary
- It sparks his imagination, stimulates curiosity and helps his brain development
- It assists in developing early literacy skills
- It allows you to model what good readers do. Your child will learn by watching you hold a book the right way and seeing how you move through the book by gently turning the pages. These important concepts of print are vital for emerging readers.
- Reading stories with children has benefits for parents too. The special time you spend reading together promotes bonding and helps to build your relationship. This is important for your son's developing social and communication skills.
Reminders/ Requests:

Pre-Kindergarten - Year 2 Athletics Carnival - Friday 14th September

This is a fantastic event for our boys as it provides a wonderful opportunity for our PK boys to develop their social and communication skills when interacting with some of our older Trinity Prep students. At the carnival there will be a variety of sporting activities for the boys to engage in: including a 50m Sprint and Hurdles, Tunnel Ball, Vortex throw, Egg and Spoon Races and Sack Races. As per the letter sent home, all Pre-Kindergarten boys will be allowed to go straight home at the conclusion of the carnival (with parent permission). All parents are welcome to attend, however, we do ask that you remain behind the fence at all times where there will be plenty of opportunities to take photos of your little athletes.

WHAT IS THE TEC?

The Trinity English Centre (TEC) offers specialist, professional English lessons in a small group environment for 8 weeks of each Term; however, in Term 4 it will be a 7 week program due to it being a shorter Term. TEC classes are capped at 12 students per class to ensure an interactive and intensive learning environment.

WHO IS THE TEC FOR?

The TEC is primarily for EALD (English as an Additional Language or Dialect) and NESB students (Non-English Speaking Background), who need additional support with English to help reach their potential in the classroom. Non-EALD/NESB applicants will be reviewed for suitability on a case-by-case basis prior to confirmation of enrolment.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST?

Fees: $35 per week per student for 7 weeks of each Term (Fee includes all materials)

Termly Fees: $35 x 7 = $245 (Note: Special Rates for Pre-K Fees: $20 x 7 = $140)

Please note: We are unable to offer refunds or make-up lessons for missed classes. Students missing classes forfeit that lesson fee.

WHEN ARE TEC CLASSES CONDUCTED?

Classes are conducted after school Tuesday - Thursday as per the timetable below.

Tennis Trials

Yesterday we began our Tennis trials for the Term 4 Summer Season. Well done to all boys who are giving it a go. I have been quite impressed by the abilities of the boys, but what has impressed me more is the attitude that the boys are showing when playing and at the conclusion of matches. This process will continue until the end of the term. During this time, we will be running a round robin. Boys will be receiving coaching and feedback as they go along.

Student Led Conferences

On behalf of the PE department I would like to thank and acknowledge those parents who were actively involved with their sons in the activities that were prepared in the gym. Your participation with the boys is vital in their Fundamental Movement Skills development. I hope you now understand how simple it can be to assist your sons with these skills. I also hope that you now have an appreciation of the time needed to master these skills, and hopefully upon reflection, you can find more time to assist in your son’s development.

Volunteers Needed - Can You Help?

The Canteen is still in need of volunteers - 9am to 1:30pm, once a month. If you are able to volunteer, you will need to provide the School Office your “Working with Children Check” number and a copy of your driver’s licence. Please call Mary Saba on 8732 4654, if you can spare some time to Volunteer.
